THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they
Join the Home
Circle at Evening Tide.

THE ABSENT ONES.

I shall leave the old home in the antumn.
To traverse its threshold no more;
Ah! how shall I sigh for the dear ones
That meet me each morn at the door!
I shall miss the "good nights" and the kisses
And the gush of their innocent glee, The group on its green, and the flowers
That are brought every morning to me.
I shall miss them at morn and at even,
Their song in the school and the street:
I shall miss the low hum of their voices,
And the tread of their delicate feet.
When the lessons of life are all ended,
And death says, "The school is dismissed!"

BETTER sweetness in the heart than greatness in the find.

IT is of no consequence how good a man is abroad if he is really mean at home.

THE radiant face, the noble form, the lady-like courtesy, the helping hand, are jewels of farther worth than diamonds.

CONSOLATION FOR HUSBANDS.

WE have to admit that the Home Circle department may be a little partial to wives and mothers, the queens of our homes. It is written and published in their interest. Now there are a few facts on the husband and father's side that may be of interest to the entire home circle. Now the writer loves and appreciates all that is best in womanhood and girlhood.
We were the petted boy of a grand good mother. The sweetest bird that ever warbled or flower that ever bloomed is woman. While we admit all this, one gets tired of being fed three times a day on "sainted mother" and never a word said about father. When children were lulled to sleep by the soothing ripple of stories of "sainted mother." We all love to call women angels, yet the little fails to show one instance where an angel was not a man. All angels are men in the scriptures, but all men are not angels in the home. It was a woman who first fell and first became a tempter. While this is a fact we do not excuse Adam for squealing on his wife after a more cunning fellow had whispered to her.
Adam, however, never spoke up of his mother-in-law. We know thousands of tolling, breadwinning fathers whose wives and daughters are dressing far beyond their means. These fathers by their toil by day and worry by night are bent and gray. Their wives are training and dressing silly girls for the ball or stage, but in life or death we sing a plea for women. Now for a parable or two. The master used parables. The boy comes home from college for a week's vacation. What a golden opportunity after a long absence from home influences for a heart to heart talk between mother and son. There is the W. C. T. U.,

Relief Corps, the Aid Society, Coffee social, Missionary tea, the Club, etc. Seven entertainments and six days to crowd them into, and the boy returns hardly having seen his mother.
It can also be truthfully mentioned that the angel wives and mothers jump up quite as often on these cold night to see if their flowers are in danger as they kneel by the bed and ask God to touch the hearts of their children during the present revival. Many years ago, but we shall never forget it, we stopped about the noon hour at a fine farm home in a county adjoining this. The family physician drove up and alighted to make a professional (?) call. The inmates of the house were a mother and two daughters in their teens.
The mother met the doctor at the door and hung on to his hand a long time; she giggled and flirted, coquetted, laughed, smiled, and talked with her eyes, and her two feet, and watching intently were the two girls. We thought the glow of his face must be a cheer to the husband tired in the field. Soon the doctor said something cute and bowing low, went on. She tossed her glances "bye bye" and the tired husband came. No picture "before and after" was ever contrasted more than was this one.
"Can I help you any, mamma, about dinner?" the young man asked. "You could have helped me a whole lot if you had set me in two or three pails of coal, and it wouldn't hurt you to have set in two pails of water from the cistern."

Ten American cities have half a million vile women calling in the boy as he passes her door.
Capital and labor may war but woe to all hands when any modern "fad" or "right" creeps in to mar the real, dear old patient solitary home without teaching sobriety and decorum of the old time happy wife and father.
But, in conclusion, these are those who are giving life and love and council and solicitude in behalf of sons and daughters; yes we are glad the Book of all Books knows, there are fathers too, as well as mothers.

We are glad that the incomparable, matchless man of Galilee spoke as man never spoke and uttered the parable of the prodigal and a faultless father and used him as a figure of God, and could also say "like as a father pitieth his children" etc. The concordance will show you 500 times the name of father. Notwithstanding all these facts we still love the fair sex and as a closing comforting word will say that women have endured about all the men have and endured the men also. God bless the dear women. We pity the man who has none and some of them who have.

FATHER OF OUR COUNTRY.

On the 22nd of February the birthday of George Washington was celebrated from ocean to ocean. At the age of sixteen we find him as a surveyor on the far side of the Blue Ridge. In the heart of the savage Indians' country he lived on rude and scanty fare and slept on a bed of branches or pillowed upon his faithful horse. He had no opportunity that is not given to every boy who reads this department. But we do not find George Washington smoking cigarettes or loafing on the street corners.

He spent his evenings at home.
His mother was no better than your mother or mine. Every boy has the best mother on earth.
It is up to you, young man, whether you will make a George Washington of yourself or a tramp and vagabond.

However his military fame may excite the wonder of mankind, it is chiefly by his civil magistracy that Washington's example will instruct us all.
Great generals have arisen in all ages of the world, and perhaps most in those of despotism and darkness. In times of violence and convulsion they rise by the force of the whirlwind, high enough to ride in and direct the storm. Like meteors they glare in on the black clouds with a splendor that, while it dazzles and terrifies, makes nothing visible but the darkness. The fame of heroes is indeed growing vulgar; they multiply in every long war; they stand in history and thicken in their ranks almost as undistinguished at their own soldiers.

But such a chief magistrate as Washington appears like the pole star in a clear sky, to direct the skillful statesman. His presidency will ever form an epoch and will be known as the age of Washington. Like the milky way, it whitens along its allotted portion of the hemisphere. The latest generation of men will survey through the telescope of history the space where so many virtues blend their rays.

He was indeed regarded everywhere as the "Father of his Country." His remains now rest in a family vault on his own estate on the banks of the Potomac.

DEATH OF MRS. WILSON.

Mrs. Martha Ann Wilson was born in Virginia July 30th, 1825, and died in Barbourville, Ky., March 10th, 1905 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. F. Costellow in the 80th year of her age.

She was united in marriage to Hamon K. Wilson in Crab Orchard, Ky. May 1st, 1845, to which union were born five children, of whom two died in infancy. Those who survive her are Ex. Congressman John H.
Wilson; Thomas Wilson; and Mrs. W. F. Costellow.

Eighteen grand-children and six great grand-children are left to reverence the memory of their beloved grand-mother, whilst numerous other relatives and friends mourn their loss.

During the last few years Mrs.
Wilson made her home with her daughter, and everything that could make her last days the happiest ones, was done by her relatives.

She first united with the Baptist, but later with the Christian Church and was a member of that church at the time of her death.

She had a cheerful, sunny disposition; never complained of any trials or troubles, and exemplified her Christian spirit in her daily life, which was an inspiration to many.

It would be vain to attempt to portray with words the good that was done by her examples. As a mother, she was good, gentle and kind; as a grand-mother, she was tender, loving and sympathetic.

Her loving disposition as a wife is expressed in her forbearance when she traveled to Tennessee to obtain the release of her husband who was then a Union prisoner. In this action of hers, we can say with St. Paul:

"Now abideth Faith, Hope, Love; these three, but the greatest of these is Love."

Words are too inadequate with which to express our deep sympathy to the bereaved family, and too empty to give a just expression of the love we hold sacred for our beloved dead.

Whilst the earth was shrouded with darkness when she passed to that home whence no traveler ever returns, it is beautiful for us to think how her spirit became Angelic, and her night became day. Yet, how comforting when we read, "Thou I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

HENRY C. BLACK.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE ENDED.

Mrs. H. K. Wilson, one of the oldest and best known women in town died at her home, March 10, 1905. This funeral service (which was very impressive) was conducted by the Rev. Loos, of the Christian Church of London, Ky.
The remains were followed to the Cemetery by a large crowd of friends and relatives where amid beautiful flowers, she was laid to rest by the side of her husband who departed this life July 27, 1895.

Mrs. Wilson was born July 30, 1825; was married May 1, 1842.

Since the death of her husband she has made her home with her only daughter, Mrs. M. S.
Costellow.

Although she had been confined to her bed three months, she suffered no pain, never complained; sometimes she would say "I am so tired."

The body refused to take up and assimilate nourishment and wasted away. Everything was done for her that could be.
The nursing prolonged her life many days but on the evening of the 10th, just as the clock struck nine life's flickering flame went out.

She passed from earth as calmly and as sweetly as the close of a summer day.

She had been a member of the Christian church for many years and died in the triumphs of a noble, christian faith. She was deeply interested in the cause of Missions, and was the oldest member of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, in this place.
We recall now how faithfully and cheerfully she worked last March preparing for the Easter offering and hers was the largest offering sent by one woman from this auxiliary.

In many respects Mrs. Wilson was a remarkable woman, but one of the most beautiful traits in her character, was her implicit faith in God, and her sweet, cheerful disposition, which reflected its sunshine upon all who came in contact with her.

Though she has gone from our midst, yet the memory of her beautiful life will linger in our hearts and will ever be an inspiration to us to "fight the good fight to hold out faithful to the end" for unto those alone is given the promise of Eternal life.
Then farewell dear Grandma for awhile.

But we can not say forever, We'll hear thy voice, we'll greet thy smile.

In the soul's bright home beyond the river.

Again Reversed

Vic Messer case Reversed by Court of Appeals for Second Time

Through the efforts of Judge Flem D. Sampson the case of Vic Messer who was tried at the December term of court and sentenced to the state prison for seven years, was reversed upon the instructions given by the trial judge.

Messer was convicted once before and sentenced to two years and Judge Sampson succeeded in reversing the case and the second trial resulting in a seven year verdict he again set about to have the case reversed, with the result as stated above.

This was indeed a difficult proposition but the fight made by Judge Sampson for his client and the result are indeed gratifying both to himself and his friends. It is a rare thing for a felony case to be reversed from this county and this second reversal in this case speaks highly for Judge Sampson.

Death of O. J. Hammons.

The subject of this sketch, O. J.
Hammons, of Bynumville, Mo., died on Saturday, March 4th after an illness of a few hours.

He sat at the breakfast table with his family apparently in as good health as ever he enjoyed, at 10 o'clock he was found in a helpless condition, suffering from a paralytic stroke, and died at six o'clock that evening.

He was a christian man and was respected by all who knew him. He was born in Knox Co., Kentucky May 1, 1845, and lived there until Sept. near 1903, when he removed to Missouri and located near Bynumville.

He was converted about 15 yrs. ago and united with the Baptist church, and had filled the office of Deacon most of the time since showing to the world he was looking for a better home.

He leaves a widow and nine children, 21 grand-children, and two brothers to mourn the loss.

New Equipment for the Rock Island.

It has just been announced that to provide for the increased volume of traffic on Rock Island lines, a large amount of new equipment will be delivered, during the month of March, on orders placed several months ago. It is indicative of the industrial and commercial prosperity of Rock Island states that, even before the receipt of the new equipment, it has been found necessary to place another large order for delivery in the early summer.

The rolling stock which will be placed in service this month includes twenty new pattern passenger cars, from the Pullman shops, which embody so many comfort-contributing devices that they make a distinct advance in day passenger equipment.
This new departure will come as a surprise to the western traveling public. Ten of the cars will be seventy-foot chair cars, furnished with sixty-four twin reclining chairs, seating as many people. The interior finish is Mexican mahogany; decoration is olive green, with plain green lines and the chairs are upholstered in green. The cars are equipped for lighting both by Pintsch gas and electricity and are fitted with electric fans, for ventilation and cooling.

The other ten cars are seventy-foot vestibuled coaches, with seating capacity for eighty. The seats are upholstered in maroon plush; otherwise the decorations are the same as in the chair cars. All the cars have very large double plate glass windows and are equipped with Pullman standard six-wheel trucks.

One new feature that will be introduced in these cars is an improved draft gear with 125,000 pounds spring capacity. This is about six times the spring capacity of the ordinary passenger coach. On heavy trains, pulled by giant locomotives, this increased capacity of the draft gear prevents disagreeable jars in starting and stopping of trains.

An order is also in for over 4000 freight cars of various kinds, including

1500 refrigerator cars 1500 box cars
500 furniture cars 475 coal flats
350 special design dump cars 250 convertible coal and bal-lest cars

25 drop bottom stock cars The Rock Island will also receive, during March, 65 new locomotives of various kinds, including twenty Pacific type passenger, ten Atlantic type passenger, fifteen freight and twenty switch engines. An additional order for fifty locomotives will be placed in the near future, for delivery in early summer.

Of the new motive power to be delivered this month, six of the passenger engines are to be equipped with a new super-heating device, being the latest development in locomotive construction, to secure economy in the generation and efficiency in the use of steam. Briefly, the device consists of return steam flues inside the upper fire tubes leading from the fire box. The steam from the dome in passing through this system is exposed to heat which raises its temperature, evaporating entrained water the steam passes perfectly dry to the cylinder.

This new equipment, which is to be added from time to time, places the Rock Island in the front rank among western railroads in the matter of transportation facilities. The foresight manifested in this meeting, and adequately providing for the exigencies of increased traffic, is characteristic of the progressive policy of the Rock Island management.

WHAT WILL THE END BE.

For more than five years past, Hon. Caleb Powers one of Knox counties most distinguished sons has been confined in a felon cell awaiting an opportunity to establish his guilt of the charge against him of conspiracy in the murder of Senator Wm. Goebel.

Three times within that period he has been compelled to face a Court and Jury of his bitter political enemies and each time he has been convicted by a jury that had convicted him in their own minds before the testimony was introduced and in each instance the verdict has been reversed by the highest court of our State and remanded back for another trial.

Although the law is supposed to regard all men innocent until they have been proven guilty, in this instance he has been presumed guilty until he could prove his innocence to the satisfaction of his bitter partisan enemies.

Now that he has been compelled to remain in jail (bond being refused) for more than five years yet he is in exactly the same attitude today that he was the day he was placed under arrest,—charged of the crime but not convicted.

When will the end come to this trouble and when will reason be again enthroned and justice meted out to citizens of our Commonwealth regardless of politics?

We hope the time is not far distant and can we say we dare hope for it in the next trial?

If the trial judge at the coming trial would establish for himself a name that will live long after this generation has past away, he will order the jury selected without reference to politics or allow the defendant to have some of his own political party represented in the panel and then allow the case to be tried on its merits, stripped of all political bias.

This being done we have no fears of the outcome and if by such a trial Mr. Powers is then found guilty we say then to punish him just as any other criminal should be punished, but until then we propose to continue the fight for his rights under the law that is pledged to protect all of us alike.

Until then we say that the taking of his life would be nothing short of judicial murder and the crime would be even more horrible than that of the assassination of Mr. Goebel.

All that Mr. Powers has ever asked has been a fair and an impartial trial, this he is entitled to and the State should never be satisfied with anything else.

In today's issue appears the notice of the election to be held in Corbin on April 4 to take the sense of the voters as to whether or not spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold there.

There is nothing on earth that has caused one half the trouble to the human family as rum, and it is to be hoped that the good people of Corbin will be in stamping it out.

There is never a train runs from Corbin but what brings more or less of the accused stuff into this city and men who, were it not for whiskey, would be good citizens, allow rum to drag them down into the slums of degradation until they have no respect for themselves and neglect their families.

Would that the time should soon come when we could take a vote on the question as a state, or better, as a nation. We believe the rum traffic would have to go.

When we look about us and see the misery, the pain, the trouble, the heart-aches, that rum has caused, we can not see how any one can fall in with it.

Away with the accused stuff, and may Corbin vote it out and keep it out.

PAFOOSE POPCORN

A New Seed Discovery for FORAGE, POULTRY, POPPING

A subscriber to the Southern Agriculturalist secured the original seed from an old Indian in Northwest Texas. After experimenting with it seven years he wrote that paper: "With good ground and care it will raise from 50 to 100 bushels in the acre, and planted thick and cut stalk and all it will make more feed and better used than anything I ever saw. The old Indian said positively: feed on it would never have the cholera. I have not lost a foal with cholera since I have been raising it. It also pops beautifully." This article brought hundreds of requests for seed, and now only a few bushels are left. Send 10c for a 3 months' trial subscription to Southern Agriculturalist, 30 C. P. Bldg., Nashville, Tenn., and you will get 100 seed by return mail, also details of $50 prize seed growing contest.

Union College Notes.

A short time ago two of our college girls, returning from town, were greatly alarmed by the furious barking of dogs. The noise did not seem to be far away and grew louder and fiercer each moment. Thinking it must be an awful dog-fight, the girls set out to running. Finally, after reaching a place of safety, they looked back to see if they could get a glimpse of the dreadful combat, when suddenly around the corner came—the Philoneikans yelling, "Rackety cax, co-ax, co-ax."

On Monday night the two literary societies of the college will give an open session, and the public is invited to attend. One feature of the program will be a debate. The speakers are J. A. Bretz, O. G. Kagan, R. S. Fellows and W. E. Faulkner.

While the Philoneikean Society was in session at a call meeting Wednesday the proceedings were interrupted by a queer intermingling of strange and pathetic cries coming from the second floor. The sergeant at arms was sent below to see what had happened and to tender the aid of the society, but returned immediately, announcing that it was just the Fannies trying to yell.

LOG TIDE.

The First Good Tide in Two Years Came Last Friday.

The rains last week caused all the small streams to rise and on last Thursday the down-pour of rain that fell caused a general tide in the Cumberland river of about 16 or 17 feet by Friday night.

This was a great blessing to the lumbermen who have been waiting now for two years for the opportunity to run their logs out to the mills.

There was a large quantity of logs running most all the time Thursday and Friday and the mills below will have an abundance of work for the next year.
